ANNOUNCEMENT.

Rumor has falsely stated that the family of M. H. Ingersoll had contracted diphtheria during the early part of August and that others had contracted the disease from them. As City Physician I wish to announce that I saw the family several times during this period and that at no time was there any membrane in the throat that suggested said disease. As an extreme precaution careful tests were made, from the throat by another physician and myself which proved very positively the absence of any such germs.

P. M. KELLY, City Physician.

Our want ads work well. They appear in all three of our papers at the same price one little paper charges—one cent per cash with order.

How to Give Good Advice. The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When you see how quickly you get cold by taking Chamberlain's Remedy they are likely to take example. This remedy has been used for many years and enjoys excellent reputation.

SWAT THE FLIES

Now that summer's here upon us, with its blue sunny skies, buy a half dozen swatters and make war on the flies. When you're sitting by your window, lying off or looking wise take a swatter and get busy swinging out the pesky flies. Search the bedroom and pantry where you keep the cakes and pies, with a swatter singing murder to the pesky little flies. In the kitchen, where you're cooking and the smells of food tempt an hour after supper breathing vengeance on flies. Samson made a splendid record, one that no should despise. Killed ten thousand with a jaw-bat you can beat it killing flies. Get your swatter, sneaking, tap them briskly by surprise, and you'll have any trouble slaughtering ten thousand flies. Every man should serve his country, to its healthful needs and You can do it with a swatter killing off the pesky flies.
